

Support, Fun and Open Wallets for a Good Cause

On Thursday May 19th, YSC held its annual fundraising benefit In Living Pink, a Las Vegas Casino Game Night, in New York City.

With over 400 people in attendance, the night was full of celebration, friendship and the opportunity to honor those who make an impact everyday in the life of young breast cancer survivors and their families.

Our special guest host, Chris Wragge, CBS Early Show host, kicked off the night, thanking everyone for their contribution to the cause and highlighting the importance of the evening.

Though the evening was an amazing and exciting affair, we also shared some serious moments of reflection. The YSC family honored and remembered a true warrior and an amazing woman, Kristen Martinez, as we introduced the inaugural Kristen Martinez Legacy Award. Kristen was a dedicated advocate who worked tirelessly to raise the profile of YSC and bring attention to the issues of young women and breast cancer.

We were also proud to present, Sanofi Aventis and Steven Silverstein, President and CEO of Spencer Gifts with the YSC Circle of Excellence Award in recognition of their commitment to YSC and their support and help ensuring that we can continue to deliver vital educational and support programs.

YSC is a true community, relying on partners, friends and supporters – we thank everyone who participated in the evening and made it a tremendous success!
